Subject: Feb. 9 ATSAC Meeting is Cancelled

Categories: Glass Air Toxics

DEQ is postponing this coming Tuesday's Feb. 9 ATSAC meeting. Because of the interest and complexity related to cadmium and arsenic air emissions, all relevant Air Quality staff, including Sue MacMillan (the DEQ lead for the ATSAC), are needed next week to help with the ongoing investigation and public communications related to these emissions. A new date for the ATSAC meeting has not yet been decided, but is likely to occur two to four weeks from now. When the date is set, another GovDelivery message will be forthcoming. We apologize for this late notice of the ATSAC meeting cancellation, and thank you in advance for your understanding.
